Unusual Working Conditions/Hazards

The incumbent has substantial responsibility for the physical safety of children/adults who are suspected of being either abused or neglected. These children/adults are incapable of protecting themselves from this type of treatment. Serious mistakes in terms of failing to remove children/adults from homes could conceivably cause death or permanent disability. The position possesses considerable responsibility for the psychological safety of children/adults who are suspected of being either abused or neglected. These children/adults can do little to prevent harm from occurring. Failure to promptly remove an endangered child/adult would potentially cause extreme psychological distress or emotional problems requiring long term treatment and/or hospitalization of a short duration. Additionally, the position involves very limited probability of any injury. The probability of accidents or health hazard is negligible. Minor risks or discomforts exist which require normal safety precautions typical of offices (e.g., use of safe work practices with office equipment). The incumbent may occasionally interact with angry or hostile clients. However, there is limited probability of any injury. The incumbent must take normal precautions to avoid trips and falls. The incumbent works in an office environment which may occasionally be dirty or dusty.
